

POETRY WORKSHOP

where we're from,
who we are

How do our backgrounds – where we were born, where our parents and grandparents were born and where we live – shape our sense of ourselves and how we express that sense of self? This practical poetry workshop with writer and Birkbeck lecturer Anthony Joseph will help you to use and consider ideas about place and identity in your own writing.

Monday 22 April 6 – 7.30pm
Islington Central Library

Anthony Joseph is a British-Trinidadian poet, novelist, musician and lecturer.
www.anthonypjoseph.co.uk

Workshop participants will have the chance to perform their poetry at a poetry performance event at the library on Wednesday 1 May, as part of Islington's Word 2013 Festival.

To book a place call 020 73803112

or email k.potts@bbk.ac.uk

Central Library, 2 Fieldway Crescent, London N5 1PF

Supported using public funding by
ARTS COUNCIL ENGLAND

ISLINGTON